Aim & Scope:

The aims of Research Journal of Environmental and Earth Sciences is to provide a forum for in-depth works on current, topical issues in the interdisciplinary area of earth and environmental sciences, that are too great in scope for individual journal articles or thematic issues. Studies in which the links between geological sciences, human activities and the environment are discussed especially appropriate for inclusion in this journal. The journal covers both fundamental and technical applications of Environmental and earth sciences. RJEES publishes original research papers on main aspects of Earth and Environmental Sciences such as:

- Atmospheric Science/Climate
- Oceanography
- Paleoclimate
- Paleontology
- Planetary geology
- Solid Earth Sciences
- Environmental Chemistry
- Environmental Biology
- Ecology Geoscience
- Environmental Physics
